Animated standing figure with light, sound and motion effect

Description:

Flowers are symbols of beauty and harmony. That is exactly why they become so unsettling when a giant eyeball suddenly stares back from the center of each bloom. The feeling of being watched by a plant is one of horror's most effective themes, and that is precisely the eerie illusion this animated horror plant from EUROPALMS brings to life. Several fully opened blossoms with oversized eyeballs appear to follow every movement, while their delicate petals create a striking contrast to the unblinking gaze, giving the figure a look that is both bizarre and deeply unsettling.

Several large blossoms sit atop a twisted trunk entwined with creeping vines, their oversized eyes immediately drawing attention. Once the animation is activated, the two largest flowers begin to move restlessly from side to side. The petals of the largest bloom also start to move, making the plant appear even more lifelike. At the same time, the white of the eye changes color, creating a haunting lighting effect. Eerie sound effects complete the illusion, making this figure a truly eye-catching addition to any Halloween display. The plant's height can be adjusted manually, allowing it to be staged anywhere from a subtle creepy accent to a dramatic horror centerpiece.

The animation cycle lasts up to 55 seconds.
